

Washington—Senator Burt Wheeler is finding his bitter fighting against the Roosevelt court plan a costly vendetta.

Old liberal friends and associates are cutting him cold, and former labor and farm supporters are assailing him as a turn-coat. The Butte, Mont., "Miners Voice," a potent labor paper in the state which Wheeler, in its latest issue refers to him as "a former progressive" and exonerates him for bolting the President.

The left-wing attack has got under Wheeler's hide. He resents it deeply—which accounts for the bitter personal feeling he is displaying toward Roosevelt.

But, while furious at his critics, Wheeler has no illusions about their political potency, and is fully aware that he is traveling in strange company on the court issue. So behind the scenes he is making an earnest effort to put himself back in their good graces.

A new railroad pension bill will soon be offered. Wheeler wants to be the sponsor of the measure.

As chairman of the Senate interstate commerce committee, which will handle the legislation, and as an old friend of railroad labor, Wheeler would be the unquestioned choice for this role. But the railroad brotherhoods evince marked coolness toward the idea.

Very angry at the Supreme court, which junked their first pension measure, they hotly resent Wheeler's hostility toward the President's plan. Secondly, as practical politicians, they fear reprisals against their measure from Roosevelt supporters if Wheeler's name is attached to it.

So they are holding him off, undecided what to do, while Wheeler is anxiously pulling wires to get his name on their bill.

Cautious Woodring
Diminutive Harry Woodring is a cautious, careful gentleman. Appointed temporary secretary of war after the death of George Dern, Woodring heard rumors that he would be replaced, that dashing Paul McNutt, ex-governor of Indiana, would succeed him.

So Harry did not get himself out on a limb. He remained in his old office as assistant secretary of war, did not move into the vacant office of the late Secretary Dern.

It was more than a coincidence that Woodring did not move into Dern's office until the day before McNutt took the oath of office as high commissioner to the Philippines.

New Maritime Board
The new maritime commission appointed by the President actually is just another temporary set-up. Only two, possibly three, of the five men named are slated to fill out their terms.

One is ex-Congressman Edward C. Moran, the Main New Dealer who refused to run for re-election last year because he could not stomach the senatorial candidacy of Governor Louis Brann. Another is Thomas M. Woodward, former member of the old shipping board advisory committee, who was ousted by Secretary Dan Roper because of his insistence that shipping interests live up to their agreements with the government.

Chairman Joseph P. Kennedy, able executive who formerly headed the securities and exchange commission, was given a two-year term, but will stay only six months.

Kennedy has extensive business and financial interests, had no desire or intention to return to Washington. But the President, hard put to find a satisfactory chairman of the commission, put the "squeeze" on his old friend. The day before the appointment was announced, he called Kennedy by long distance phone, said:

"Joe, I'm naming you chairman of the maritime commission."

"But, Mr. President," protested Kennedy, "I can't..."

"Joe, you just have to do this favor for me," Roosevelt insisted. "I must have someone who can do a fast and thorough organization job. The commission is badly in need of reorganization and there is no man who can do it better than you."

On this understanding, Kennedy agreed to lay aside his private affairs and return to public harness.

The two other appointees are Admiral Henry Wiley and Admiral Emory S. Land, both retired. Wiley, 70 years old, is scheduled to remain only a short time, was named as a hold-over from the old commission to help the new group until it gets going.

Land, an expert naval engineer, was put on the agency because of

MEDUSA AND BROWN FIRMS AID WORKERS

Fine Bonuses To Be Given Former; Shoe Makers Raised

Unexpected and very welcome news reached employees of two of Dixon's leading manufacturers today, when it was announced that they were to profit materially under new working agreements. The Medusa Cement company and the Brown Shoe company employees were the beneficiaries under the new plan which will mean a marked increase in the pay rolls of both firms.

At the banquet for the 300 employees of the Medusa Cement company last evening at the Brinton Memorial Masonic temple, when 17 employees who have been in the service of the company for 25 years were presented with handsome gold watches by President J. B. John of Cleveland, Ohio, the cement company's announcement was made.

To Receive Bonuses
President John, in addressing the employees announced a new plan whereby all employees in the service of the company at the close of its fiscal year, Dec. 15, who have been in the employ for three months previous to that date, will receive a bonus equal to the percentage amount paid to holders of common stock. The bonus, it was estimated, would amount to approximately $20,000 to be paid to employees before Christmas of this year. This is in addition to the 10 per cent increase in wages which was effective in November last year.

President John in his talk to the employees highly commended the organization of the Dixon cement mills for the fine spirit of cooperation which has been demonstrated this year, which has been one of the largest in the history of the local plant.

Shoe Makers Benefit
Superintendent J. G. Alexander of the Dixon plant of Brown Shoe Company this morning announced an increase in wages for employees, which becomes effective April 15, notice having been received from the head offices at St. Louis, Mo. Employees of the Brown company are scheduled to benefit by a five per cent wage increase which is effective in all Brown plants, April 15. This is in addition to a five per cent wage increase which became effective in the Dixon plant Jan. 11 of this year.

Illinois Basketball Scores; Gehrig Signs Terms

STATE BASKETBALL
Champaign, Ill., March 18.—(AP)—Vandalia opened the finals of the Illinois state high school basketball tournament in the University of Illinois George Eufr gym today by eliminating Zeigler, 28 to 26.

Homer Harris, Vandalia captain, paced the winners' attack by scoring seven baskets.

The Zeigler quintet took a 6 to 0 lead, but Vandalia tied the score, which was knotted three other times during the contest. After going ahead, 19 to 18, near the end of the third quarter Vandalia managed a slim lead to the finish.

Joliet Wins
Joliet, led by Benny Macuk, put on a late spurt in the second game to down Athens, 31 to 24. The northern team, holding a 10-point lead in the second quarter, saw its margin dwindle as the Athens players began hitting their long shots. Baskets by Larry Markey, Ernest Golladay, and Bill McLavish in quick succession tied the count at 21 to 21 with six minutes left in the game.

Then Macuk, who scored 16 points to lead the scoring, sank three field goals, and a pair of baskets by his teammate, LeRoy Hagan, gave Joliet a comfortable margin.

Ticket Manager C. E. Bowen announced the morning attendance as 6,021, an all-time record for the opening session.

GEHRIG SIGNS

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 18.—(AP)—Lou Gehrig, durable first baseman of the New York Yankees, has come to terms for the 1937 season.

Gehrig today advised Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, that he would sign a one-year contract for a salary of $36,000 at the club's camp here. The star first sacker will leave New York for St. Petersburg at once.

The $36,000 salary is $4,000 less than Gehrig was demanding for the 1937 season and $5,000 more than the club's original offer of $31,000.

Gehrig's return to the Yankee fold will make it possible for him to continue his unbroken streak of consecutive games with the New York club. He succeeded Wally Pipp on first base in 1925 and has played more than 1,800 consecutive contests to become the undisputed "iron man" of major league baseball.

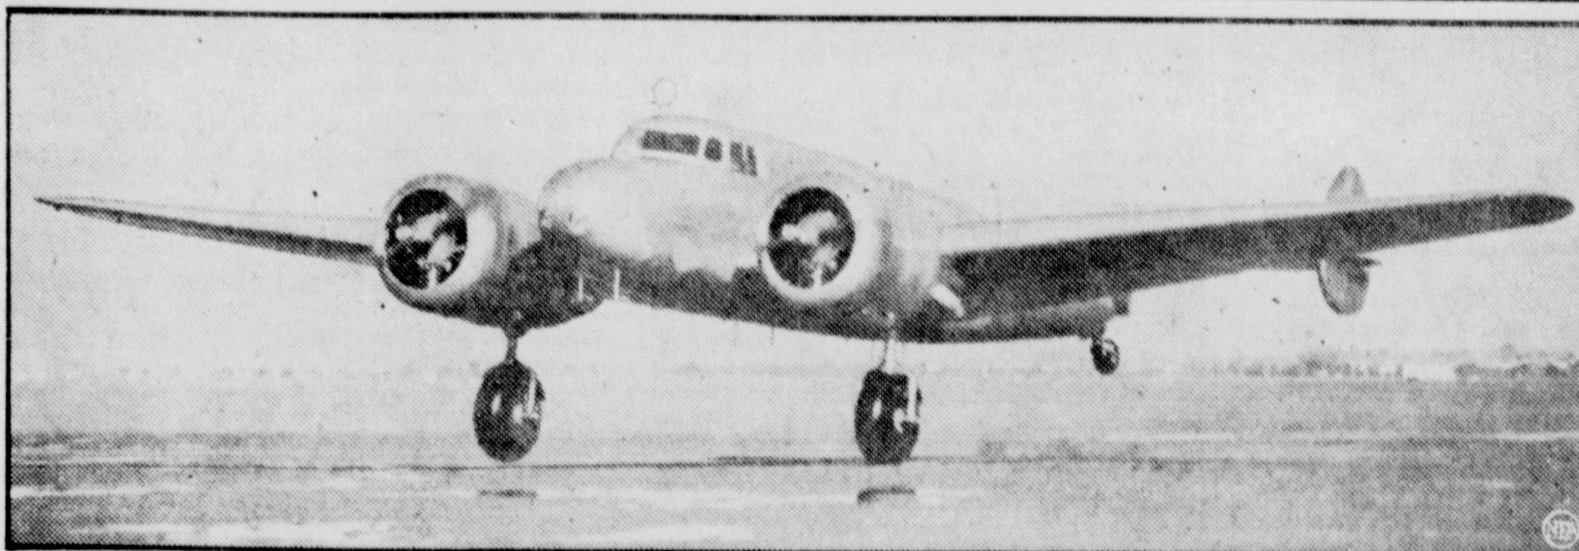

BEAU BELL SIGNS

San Antonio, Tex., March 18.—(AP)—Donald Barnes, president of the St. Louis American League baseball club, said today Beau Bell, Browns outfielder who has been listed as a holdout, signed his contract this morning. Terms were not disclosed but various observers guessed the new contract called for about $7,500.

Spiller Leads His Rifle Team to Win

Spiller, captain of the University of Florida rifle team, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spiller of 422 Peoria avenue, Dixon, scored 390, together with another member of his team, to win the Fourth Army Corps Area championship for 1937, defeating fourteen southern institutions. The University of Florida team of ten men, under the leadership of Spiller, made a total of 3,754 points out of a possible 4,000. The young captain has paced his team in the year's competitions, and the team stands third in the nation in the National Rifle Association's title match.

SQUAD CARS TRY TO HALT CHICAGO STREET RIOTING

Several Cabs Burned, Pedestrians Rendered Senseless

BULLETIN
Chicago, March 18.—(AP)—Additional police strength was thrown hastily into the loop today on a tip that sympathizers in the 13-day-old strike of taxicab drivers planned a repetition of yesterday's rioting tactics.

Acting Commissioner John Pendergast said he had been informed strike sympathizers were drifting into the downtown district in groups of five or six, planning a concerted assault on cabs at an unknown "zero hour."

One of the greatest concentrations of police in the city's history found 21 squads of three officers each assigned to patrol two square blocks apiece in the loop. Other officers were plentiful.

Chicago, March 18.—(AP)—A score of police squads cruised the loop in cars today under orders to prevent recurrence of street rioting that left several persons injured and many taxis damaged in the 13-day-old cab drivers strike.

All leaves of absence and vacations for policemen were cancelled pending settlement of the strike through which more than a thousand drivers for the Yellow and Checker Cab Companies sought higher commissions.

Two cabs were burned and a striker suffered a bullet wound in the leg in affrays last night.

Earlier in the day several hundred rioters slugged cab drivers, battled police, and stoned, overturned and burned cabs in the downtown business section. Thousands of office workers and

Lee Co. Sheriffs Join Campaign to Catch Hog Thieves

Sheriff Ward Miller, Deputy Gilbert Finch and other central Illinois sheriffs were today searching for hog thieves who have been active throughout central and northern Illinois during the winter. The finding of an abandoned stolen car at Jacksonville yesterday led the sheriffs to start their investigation from that point and is reported to have centered in Peoria at noon today.

The abandoned stolen car was said to have been stolen about two weeks ago from Eureka, Ill., and when found, two sets of practically new heavy duty harness was found in it. The harness is believed to have been stolen from the Atkinson farm near Temperance Hill about two weeks ago together with six hogs. Sheriff Miller was informed of the finding of the harness late yesterday afternoon and Deputy Finch left early this morning to make a further investigation with the hope of locating the thieves.

PEACE IN FIVE OF HUGE STEEL PLANTS INSURED

Strike Situations in Detroit, Chicago are Unchanged

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Committee for Industrial Organization, some of whose affiliates were engaged in strikes involving thousands of workers, was a party today to contracts designed to insure industrial peace in five large steel companies for at least a year.

The contracts covered seniority rights, vacations, and other questions and provided that work continue pending conciliation of differences arising between now and next March 1.

Companies which signed the agreements were producing units of the U. S. Steel Corporation. They were Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp.; National Tube; Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad; American Steel & Wire; and Columbia Steel.

The C. I. O. also negotiated a contract involving pay raises and a closed shop for approximately 1,200 Baltimore tunnel workers and an agreement by which the Hershey Chocolate Corp., Hershey, Pa., recognized the committee as bargaining agency for its members.

Detroit civic leaders and Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan agreed yesterday to the creation of a civic board to conciliate labor disputes. Meanwhile, 5,000 sit-down strikers continued to defy a court injunction ordering them to evacuate Detroit plants of the Chrysler Motor Corp. "Misunderstanding"

Striking clerks at the Frank & Seder department store at Detroit ended a 10-hour sit-down demonstration early today, after 300 policemen had massed around the store.

SETS RECORD FOR OVER-SEA FLIGHT TODAY

Made First Hop of World Jaunt In Sixteen Hours

Honolulu, T. H., March 18.—(AP)—Amelia Earhart landed her globe-girdling "flying laboratory" at Wheeler field at 8:29 A. M., Pacific Standard time today (10:29 A. M. CST) completing her 2,400 mile over water hop from Oakland, Calif., in less than 16 hours. The flight was the fastest ever made in the westerly direction. The record made by the Hawaii Clipper last December was 16 hours, 58 minutes.

The aviatrix and her crew of three thus averaged better than 150 miles an hour on the night flight which began at Oakland yesterday.

Her time of 15 hours, 51½ minutes was made through cloudy skies and occasional showers without mishap.

Miss Earhart's $80,000 craft arrived over the city at an altitude of 1,500 feet at 10:17 A. M. (CST).

Passed Clippers
The Earhart plane left Oakland after the departure of two Pan-American Clippers but passed the slower and heavier ships en route.

AFTER TEN YEARS

San Francisco, Calif., March 18.—(AP)—Back in 1927 two Army lieutenants flew from Oakland to Hawaii in the starting time of 25 hours and 50 minutes.

Today Amelia Earhart and her crew did it in 15 hours, 51½ minutes—a new westerly record and an hour better than the best recorded by the giant passenger Clippers.

The first successful flight from Oakland to Honolulu was made on June 28, 1927, by Army Lieutenants Lester Maitland and Albert Hegenberger.

an flyer, who had crossed both the Atlantic and Pacific ocean in previous flights.

There was a slight drizzle of rain falling and dark clouds overhung Wheeler Field, the Army airport at Schofield Barracks, as the plane came to a graceful landing.

Miss Earhart arrived shortly after daylight and several hundred spectators, including some still in evening dress, were at the field.

Hubby Goes to Bed

At Oakland, George Palmer Putnam, husband of Miss Earhart, ended a 16-hour vigil by taking his feet off a table, sighing and smiling.

"Guess I'll go to bed," he remarked. Miss Earhart, who had flown most of the night at the controls, admitted she was "terribly tired."

She turned the controls over to Paul Mantz, her technical adviser, just before the eight-ton plane landed.

Mantz was the first out of the ship, followed by Miss Earhart, with her familiar tousled hair.

Then came the other crew members, Fred J. Noonan and Captain Harry Manning.

Army officers presented flower lei; and Miss Earhart then was whisked to the home of Lieut. Colonel John McDonnell, commander at Wheeler Field.

Chief of Police J. D. Van Bibber and Harry LaBarry of the Starks Building Company of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, builders of Dixon's sewage treatment plant, this morning recovered the remaining four aluminum gates which were stolen from the plant on Dec. 28. The gates were fished out of Rock river near the east end wire mill this morning.

Seven heavy cast aluminum gates used at the treatment plant were stolen and three of these were recovered by Chief Van Bibber the first of the year along the river bank. Information reaching the chief, was to the effect that the remaining four gates had been thrown into Rock river but efforts to locate them, three weeks ago were frustrated by the high water and heavy ice.

SENATORS LOOK AT A BOOK

Senator Wheeler, solemnly, as liberal senators always are, reads to the senate from a book written by Franklin Roosevelt in 1933, in which the president said that appointment of additional judges would only aggravate the complaint. Other senators solemnly move over to the desk of the senator from Montana to examine the book to determine whether or not the president actually had said one thing at one time and had repudiated it later.

Certainly it must have been a terrible shock to them to discover that Franklin Roosevelt ever repudiated his words with his acts.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Twenty years ago events were developing rapidly to take the United States into the World War. In this period, when many are saying we entered the conflict to save the world for international bankers and munition makers, it will be well to review the facts now and then, for we soon shall have many reviews of our historic participation.

Twenty years ago von Bernstorff, German ambassador to the United States, had been handed his passports as our government severed diplomatic relations with Germany. He had reached Copenhagen and was interviewed. Asked whether he believed there would be war between the United States and Germany, Bernstorff said:

"That depends upon our U-boat warfare. If we sink an American ship, we shall get war. If not, I suppose we can avoid it."

Meanwhile, Ambassador James W. Gerard, who had just been recalled from Germany by the United States government, had been asked about the prospects of American participation in the war. He answered: "Do you expect the United States to stand everything? Does the United States expect to keep her ships off the seas entirely?"

Also, by this time twenty years ago, the federal government was placing armed guards on American ships to protect them from submarine piracy, and had so notified all nations with whom we had friendly relations.

A bit of supporting evidence came recently from Gen. Johnson Hagood. He remarked that he had occasion to talk with several munition manufacturers during the war, but doubted whether they had anything to do with our getting into it. He said he conferred with them in an effort to get them to supply us with munitions.

MAKE THEM AMERICANS

Congress has a number of profoundly important measures to handle this spring. But it is to be hoped that the pressure of this business does not cause Congress to ignore the Tydings-Gibson bill, which would make American citizens out of the 21,000 inhabitants of the island of Guam.

This island has been under the American flag ever since the war with Spain, but its people are neither flesh, fish, nor fowl. They are not aliens, and yet they are not Americans. They aspire to be American citizens, and have sent a delegation to ask Congress to give them that status; and at a time when America's other islands are asking everything from economic rehabilitation to complete independence, this looks like a singularly mild request.

The people of Guam feel like Americans and act like Americans. It is to be hoped that Congress will find time to pass the bill that will make them in fact Americans.

A RUGGED INDIVIDUAL

Some months ago Paul B. Sears, noted authority on soil erosion and conservation, wrote a book called "Deserts on the March." The reviewers all agreed that it emphasized the need for sweeping government action to save our farms from slow destruction.

But a Maryland farmer read the book and decided that he didn't have to wait for the government. He wrote the publishers the other day, telling how he went to work, as soon as he had finished the book, on a gullied hillside which had been haunting him for years—a heritage from a former tenant farmer who had let the land go to ruin.

For two weeks this farmer worked on that hillside. Today the gully is no more, his good soil has stopped running off into the rivers and his farm has stopped wasting away.

The government doesn't have to do it all. If more individuals would emulate this Marylander, the erosion problem would be much less menacing.

WORTHWHILE CONTEST

Feminine beauty contests are generally a pain in the neck. The contestants pose and strut and simper and get their heads stuffed full of phoney values, the general atmosphere is a little too much like that of a burlesque show—and the prize-winning "beauty" usually isn't half so pretty as any one of a dozen girls you see on the street at home every day.

But the contest that brought nine goodlooking girls together at Chicago the other day was something else again. For it was a contest—not to see which girl was the best-looking, but to see which one could bake the best cherry pie.

Cherry pie is one of the buttresses of American civilization. Even a poor cherry pie is better than none at all; a really good one is a thing beyond price and beyond praise. Contests of this kind, which go to raise the general level of cherry pie-baking, are worth having. And Miss Betty Rine, who won this particular contest, has a distinction that amounts to something!

VALUE OF LEARNING

After a day at college, a certain Oklahoman goes home, studies until midnight, then arises at 5:30 o'clock to get his lessons ready for that day's classes. He is Dr. J. N. Harber, former mayor of Seminole, Okla., prominent physician, and rich oil man.

What lured him back to classrooms 30 years after he left school? Pleasure of learning, Dr. Harber maintained. But an interviewer uncovered the man's basic philosophy: that a person's real success in life depends upon his service to his community and the people about him, and that learning enables him to be of greater service.

People who have contracted the idea that the sole function of an education is to increase one's earning power should find some sort of moral in Dr. Harber's philosophy.

Schools competing in this contest are Streator, Shannon, Geneseo, Savanna, Waterman, Putnam, Toluca, Oglesby and Peru.

Science Club

On Thursday evening, March 11, the Science club was entertained by two speakers and some demonstrations. The first speaker was Mr. Whitestadt, who talked of Mr. Hall, a man who did a great deal of work with aluminum. The other speaker was Mr. Shaffer, who talked about his recent trip to New Orleans. Some demonstrations were then given by club members, Alvin Brandt and Leland Putcamp, and the meeting was adjourned after ice cream had been served.

Junior Hi-Tri

The junior girls held their regular meeting of Hi-Tri Wednesday, March 10. The meeting was called to order and the secretary read the minutes of the last meeting. Then Ida Jane Brooks told about the University of Iowa, the courses, tuition, and entrance requirements.

Bernice Olson gave a similar report on Frances Shimer, Women's Junior college, Carolyn McManis on Northwestern, and Esther Poppens on Wesley.

Thursday the junior girls met again. They discussed plans for a tea to be given for their mothers Wednesday, March 17. Several committees were appointed. Ida Jane Brooks told the girls about sororities, using the notes that she had taken at camp last summer.

Treat for Mothers

On Tuesday, March 2, the freshman girls of Tri-Hi entertained their mothers at a tea in the school cafeteria. The next week, on March 10, the sophomore girls followed the same plan and were hostesses to their mothers at tea in the cafeteria. The teachers who have freshmen in class were also guests of the freshman girls, and those who had sophomore girls in class were guests at the tea for the sophomore mothers. After a short program tea was served. Miss Frances Malsbury poured at the freshman tea and Miss Evelyn Graham poured at the sophomore tea.

Miss Hester Merriman of DeKalb.

News of Former Pupil

A letter was received from Geraldine Fisher, a former P. H. S. student, in which she relates sitting (or rather shaking) through the recent earthquake which was felt in Ligonier, Ind., where she now resides. Geraldine says, "I was in typing class and about 8:47 a. m.

we felt our desks shaking. We looked around to see who was shaking our desks but there didn't seem to be anyone. In the afternoon I learned that we had had an earthquake."

P. H. S. is always glad to hear from its former students.

G. A. A. Basketball

The inter-class basketball tournament ended last week. The games were as follows:

Sophomores defeated Freshmen, 25-3.

Seniors defeated Sophomores, 11-7.

Junior defeated Seniors, 17-13.

This made a three-way tie between the sophomores, juniors and seniors because each team won two games.

Thursday night at basketball practice the three teams played off the tie unofficially. The juniors defeated the seniors, and the sophomores defeated the juniors, thus winning the tournament.

Monday, the telegraphic shooting tournament took place. Ten girls entered. The results of this contest are not known yet.

F. A. A. Basketball Games

On Tuesday evening the local F. A. A. team met the F. P. A. team from Bureau township high school. The score was 28 to 11 in favor of the local team. After this game had been played, the second team played the second team from the Children's home. The score of this game was 14 to 12 in favor of the local team. The third game of the evening was between the F. P. A. first team and the Children's home first team. The score of this game was 58 to 14 in favor of the Children's home.

Miss Gebring Speaks

Tuesday morning, March 9, Miss Gebring from MacMurray college at Jacksonville, Ill., spoke to the senior girls. MacMurray received its name from a man by that name. He has given many gifts which amount to about one million dollars. Now he is paying for a $250,000 dollar building. MacMurray is located about 38 miles south of Springfield and about 18 miles from St. Louis.

All the buildings at MacMurray are new. The oldest is 12 years old.

MacMurray offers a very fine course in all lines. Among these are nurses training, speech, dramatics, liberal arts, kindergarten, and many others.

The girls live in dormitories where the equipment is of the most modern type. There are small kitchens where they can go to make candy or whatever they wish. There are parlors or lounging rooms with pianos and radios.

The girls all eat in one large dining room. This room is a very beautiful place, and seats about 800 people. It has an arched ceiling with beautiful crystal chandeliers. Around the room is a balcony for spectators.

When the tables are taken out this room serves as a fine ball room. There is also a swimming pool in the gym. The girls may use it any time except one night when it is reserved for the faculty.

The tuition for one year is $700, which includes tuition, board, room, and some of the incidental extra fees.

Inside News

The victim of this week's questioning is our dashing, young junior, Donald Roberts. Donald was busily studying his history when we pounced upon him. (As Mrs. Mayour would say, "Il est un élève laborieux"). We asked Donald if he would kindly condescend to a mere interview for the school notes. He said "yes," and so we proceeded.

What study do you like best?

"My choice varies with the grade I obtain each six weeks."

Are you a Jean Harlow fan?

"I don't have a fan." Oh, Donald. Are you Republican or Democrat?

"The party who gives the people a fair deal is my choice." That sounds like Mr. Lowry. He's non-partisan!

Do you like "Wild West" shows?

"I prefer those of milder action." Well, how shall we take that?

What would you do if you had a million dollars?

"I have not found it necessary to consider this important question as yet." Neither have we.

And "that's all, folks."

"Years ago, as an ambitious young actor, I was impressed how well my throat liked Luckies and how well they suited my idea of a perfect cigarette. That impression still stands. In my recent tour of 'Hamlet', with its many performances each week and the attendant tax on my throat, I have been convinced anew that this light smoke is both delightful to my taste and the 'top' cigarette for an actor's throat."

An independent survey was made recently among professional men and women—lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc. Of those who said they smoke cigarettes, more than 87% stated they personally prefer a light smoke.

Mr. Howard verifies the wisdom of this preference, and so do other leading artists of the radio, stage, screen and opera. Their voices are their fortunes. That's why so many of them smoke Luckies. MAJOR CUSHING GIVEN MILITARY FUNERAL HONORS

Veteran of Spanish-American War Laid To Rest Wednesday

The funeral of Major Som Cushing, Spanish War veteran, which was held at the Jones funeral home Wednesday afternoon, was one of the largest military services held here since World War days, and was a fitting tribute to the departed patriot. The service was by Rev. James A. Barnett, pastor of the First Christian church and Chaplain of Dixon Post No. 12, American Legion.

Rev. Barnett read the 15th Psalm and a portion of John 5. He took his text from Isa. 13:12, "I will make a man more precious than fine gold, yea even a man, than the pure gold of Ophir."

He said in part: "It is not our purpose to eulogize the departed today. Our friend, had he expressed himself or were it possible now to consult his wishes, would not desire it. He was a very modest man. But the worth of his character and the estimate the community placed upon him is attested by this great throng who come to honor his memory today. We are here on this occasion to honor the memory of a man who has left a rich heritage to family and loved ones and the community through a quiet life inspired by lofty and unselfish motives. His devotion to his country which he served in time of war and in peace manifested the loftiest patriotism."

"Human life has been held too cheaply since the dawn of recorded history. Wars have wasted life in a ruthless manner. Ambitious men have counted life cheap in attaining their goals. Even in modern times our industrial and social organization displays a shocking waste of human life. There are still many who place money above human life. To them gold is more precious than men."

Value on Character
"The prophet Isaiah gives us the ideal toward which we are being drawn gradually. God places value upon character. Our Savior taught his disciples that God regards human beings as the most precious things in His universe. In many ways our Lord illustrated the value of human life. He taught the value of character as the supreme thing."

"How highly we appreciate lives like the one whose memory we honor today. Men of noble impulses, lofty ideals and devoted in unselfish service to their fellow men are the ones whom we appreciate most and impress us with the dignity of greatness of the human soul."

At the conclusion of the service, Rev. Barnett read Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar." In his introductory service he read the following sentiment:

TO A DEAD COMRADE
By Herman Hagedorn
Ah, not that face! You were our friend—

Too close to be so silent now;
The love, the laughter at an end
In austere lips and brow,

We loved you, but we went our ways,
Undreaming in our rash content

That you were dropping numbered days,
Along the road we went.

We loved you but we never guessed
Your ardors and your shining powers

Were aiming for a fairer quest
Than any quest of ours.
Good night, dear Comrade! As we part

Not idle praise nor tears we bring;
But see! Our hearts stand round your heart

Like warriors round a king!
Members of Spanish-American war veteran posts from neighboring towns who attended the funeral were:

W. C. Shover, William Hageman, F. H. Ottenhausen, John Linder, Post No. 4, and R. V. Cannon, Post No. 998, Freeport; W. Taylor, M. WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By William E. Gilroy, DD.
Editor of Advance

The crucifixion of Jesus is not unique in history, in the fact or manner of His death. Other men have been put to death, and multitudes have experienced the cruel pain of the cross. Two men, in fact, were crucified with Jesus, one on His right hand, and one on the left.

Nor does the uniqueness of the crucifixion of Jesus lie entirely in His innocence. Other men, innocent of charges against them, have been executed.

What does make the crucifixion of Jesus unique and significant as the most tragic and challenging event of all history is the purpose of His death, the yielding of Himself to die in fulfillment of a mission of love and redemption.

It was the supreme goodness of Jesus, revealing in His earthly life the divinity of a God of love, and revealing in His death the fullness of the divine sacrifice that men might know the richness of grace, and be drawn toward God's redeeming love.

Could Jesus have avoided the cross? We cannot tell. There seemed a point in His life where the temptation to seek avoiding it was almost overwhelming. At the beginning of His ministry, there were temptations to turn His divine mission to some scheme of earthly conquest or vain glory. The devil had lured Him with a vision of all the kingdoms of the world and the power that He might exercise over them.

At a later stage, there must have been an occasional temptation to lead a popular movement of revolt, such as many Jews wanted. And then, during the hour in the garden of Gethsemane, there came the earnest, agonizing prayer that, if it were possible, the cup might pass. It was too late. The hour of destiny had come, but it did not find an unwilling victim. Deeply in that spiritual conflict Jesus had triumphed.

In His anguish, He had said, "Nevertheless, not as I will, but as Thou wilt." The words that some had mockingly said of Him as He hung on the cross, "He saved others. Himself He cannot save," were literally true. It was the last supreme sacrifice of love and devotion to the truth.

For us the spiritual reality of the crucifixion depends to some extent upon the vividness with which we are able to reproduce the scene. In our contemplation of the suffering victims on the crosses, the Master and the two thieves, we perhaps are apt to forget that, standing by the cross among other women, was His mother.

Can we think of what that means? Mary, in the fullness and richness of her love, had followed her son even to the last agony. What deep and striking troubles she had experienced since the days when wise men had come honoring her newborn babe, and she had "pondered all these things, and kept them in her heart."

But motherly devotion had stood the test of the years, and there could hardly have been an anguish of the cross deeper than the anguish of the mother who stood by her suffering son.

There is tenderness and beauty in the thought of Jesus for His mother as He turned to John and said, "Woman, behold thy son."

The most human picture of the crucifixion is this in John's Gospel, and the significance of the divine event, the tragedy of glory, is made all the more real in its human setting.

GENERAL STRIKE OF 2,000,000 IN FRENCH CAPITAL

Follows Clichy Riot Between Fascists And Communists

Paris, March 18.—(AP)—A general strike of 2,000,000 workers in protest against "Fascist assassins" they accused of killing five leftists in a bloody street riot brought Paris to a standstill today.

For half the day, marked by numerous small clashes in the city's streets but no serious disorders, the workers demonstrated their power to enforce demands for destruction of "Fascism" in France.

All factories and most shops, restaurants and offices were closed until noon by the general strike, called by the general confederation of workers in protest "massacre of Clichy" Tuesday night and early yesterday. Armed police charged Communist street barricades in the workers' suburb, outside a rightist mass meeting.

Millions Idle
In the capital itself, about 1,000,000 workers joined the strike.

Another million walked out in outlying municipalities where many important factories are situated and where most of the local administrations are strongly Communist.

So complete was the paralysis that the morning session of the Chamber of Deputies, where a bitter attack was expected on the government over the Clichy riots, was postponed.

At the Bourse, a crowd behind the iron grill sang the French anthem, "The Marseillaise," and gave the rightist salute while a crowd of Communists outside competed with the Communist clench fist salute and the "International."

A squad of police broke up the demonstration when fist fights developed.

Northern Branch Methodist Church Approves Merger

Chicago, March 18.—(AP)—An official survey showed today the northern branch of the Methodist Episcopal church virtually was certain to approve the proposed merger of the three divisions of Methodists. The three are the Methodist Episcopal Church (north), the Methodist Episcopal Church South and the Methodist Protestant church.

In the northern division 80 of the 86 general conferences had voted on the proposal as of March 1, the survey revealed 7734 ministers in these conferences had approved the merger. Only 380 more votes were needed in the remaining six conferences to insure the needed two-thirds majority.

Figures on the voting of laymen were available only as of Jan. 1. On that date 4750 laymen had voted for and 276 against unification.

CHAMPION CHURCHGOERS

Marion, Mich.—(AP)—This village of 900 residents claims the distinction of having the greatest number of churches per capita—one for each 180 persons—of any community in western Michigan. Denominations include Latter Day Saints, Methodist, Free Methodist, Catholic and Seventh Day Adventist.

Back Salary Claims Carried To Supreme Court By Officers

Springfield, Ill., Mar. 18.—(AP)—Elmer Henryson and a number of other policemen and firemen of Elgin carried their effort to collect back salary claims totalling $12,523 to the state Supreme Court today.

An appeal was sought from the second district Appellate Court decision which reversed the Kane county Circuit Court ruling that the city should issue warrants to meet the claims.

The policemen and firemen claimed back salaries for 10 months of 1932, all of 1934 and January, 1935.

EQUIPMENT FOR STAMPING CROWS OUT USED HERE

The state conservation department has consigned all of the equipment for destroying crow roosts to Dixon where it will remain for a few weeks in the custody of Conservation Inspector Charles Duis, for use in Lee county. Farmers desiring crow roosts being destroyed may communicate with Inspector Duis and arrangements will be made to transport the equipment to the rookery for that purpose.

Several small cannon, various types of bombs and the complete equipment used by the state department of conservation has been placed at the disposal of Inspector Duis in a program outlined to destroy several thousand crows in Lee county within the next few weeks. A survey of the county is being conducted to locate the rookeries and farmers are requested to aid in this work. Several officials of the conservation department have been in Dixon during the past few days outlining the work of destroying crow roosts.

Some of these officials are authority for the statement that crows are truly a delicacy and in several parts of the state are greatly in demand and are said to be equal to the choicest squabs as food. Chicago, Springfield and the larger cities of the state where the crows are not so prolific, they are in demand for food purposes.

ROCHELLE NEWS

By Arthur T. Guest

Rochelle—Back from Mexico, loaded with films, blankets, trinkets, pottery and all sort of fascinating articles from the most tropical regions of southern Mexico, came Vincent Carney and Donald Lockridge, Friday after a six weeks' trip.

Mr. Carney states that this trip was more interesting and entertaining than that of last year due to his better knowledge of conditions and to the advancement that the country has made during the past year. Mr. Carney and Mr. Lockridge were able to locate better eating places and more modern accommodations resulting largely from the greater flow of tourists into Mexico.

The young men left February 2, via the regular Pan American route to Mexico. They visited Oaxaco, south of Mexico City, where the discovery of the famous "Monte Albán" was made in 1930-31. This was one of the greatest treasures ever uncovered, and contained priceless jewels of all kinds. Ten days of their trip was spent at a sugar plantation owned by a friend of Mr. Carney. The boys studied the entire process of sugar production from the planting to the shipping. This plantation is located 700 miles southwest of Mexico City.

Another point of interest was Cuyutlan beach, which is reputed to be the finest beach in the continent. It is 18 miles long, its shores washed by enormous waves and its waters infested with sharks. This section of the country is noted for its excellent bananas. Carney and Lockridge report that they have consumed enough bananas to satisfy their appetites for many months. They were able to purchase as many as 73 bananas for 21c.

The coffee plantation in the Eruapan valley was one of the outstanding places visited. It is especially noted for its beautiful tropical vegetation.

Mr. Carney plans to begin a series of lectures and exhibits on Mexico as soon as he can get his material organized.

Miss Anna B. Turkington, Mrs. Frank A. Campbell and probably Miss Carrie Barber will represent the Rochelle chapter D. A. R. in session at Galesburg, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week. John O. Turkington will drive the ladies to Galesburg in his car. One of the feature entertainments of the state convention will be the production of "Julius Caesar" by Knox college players with James Campbell, cast in the role of Brutus.

Shakespeare plays in modern dress will be the fare March 20 when the Knox college theater holds its fifth annual demonstration day for high school students

RULE CHANGES DON'T HINDER TALL PLAYERS

Towering Cagers Are Still Able To Con- trol The Ball

Chicago, March 18.—(AP)—The basketball coaching fraternity was busy today plotting new strategic maneuvers for tall boys.

The national rules committee formally removed the center-jump from the game yesterday except at the start of periods. The modification removed all but the smallest part of the premium on a towering player's ability to control the ball at center.

The revision was adopted for a one-year trial, and was the only important change made. For a year at least, the ball will be put into play from out of bounds by the team last scored upon, with the likely effect that an already fast, thrilling game, will become faster and more thrilling.

Any hope that reduction of the exceptionally tall player's effectiveness at center through the elimination of the jump might be compensated through a revision of the "three-second" rule, failed to materialize.

Pivot Play Squelched

The committee rejected a recommendation that a player be permitted to remain indefinitely in the outer half of the free-throw circle without possession of the ball, which would have made possible a modification of the "pivot" or "bucket" play, in which tall players used to plant themselves in the area to convert high passes into shots.

The coaches' recommendation that a team be permitted to decline free throw opportunities, taking the ball out of bounds instead, was turned down. A suggestion that measures be taken to curb the activity of boys tall enough to reach up near the basket and lead off or bat away opponents' field goal attempts was referred to the research committee.

LONG ISLAND U. PLAYS SAFEWAY QUINT, DENVER

Denver, March 18.—(AP)—The west held the numerical edge—but the southwest still had favorite No. 1—as eight crack teams prepared for quarter-finals of the national A. A. U. basketball tournament tonight.

The Bartlesville, Okla., Oilers, chief favorite, and all other well-backed clubs still are in there for tonight's battles—the pick of the 45 teams that started the marathon Sunday.

Seven of the eight quarter finalists are seeded. Only one is a college team—the colorful, long-shooting Long Island University outfit.

The Collegians from Brooklyn's sidewalks also have the chance of recording the only out-and-out upset of tonight's four-game program—if they can beat the powerful Denver Safeways in the opening contest.

The Kansas City Trails and the Denver K. C. Life, meet in the second game. Hollywood's Olympic stars will play Colorado Springs Oilers, and Bartlesville will tangle with Oakland Golden State in the final battle.

All eight teams won their third round contests yesterday by four points or better.

Tourist travel in Cuba reached near record proportions during the last year, 157,508 visitors entering the island as compared with 102,000 in the banner year of 1929-1930.

Wallin Vacates Dixon Net Throne Field Wide Open

Announcement today that Ted Wallin, 1936 Dixon tennis singles champion, had departed for Perrinton, Mich., where he has assumed a position with the Borden Co. plant, vacated the tennis throne to a new title-holder who will be named in the annual Dixon Evening Telegraph city tournament this spring.

No definite plans for the tournament have yet been made but present indications point to a date early in June this spring depending on the wishes of tennis players desiring to enter.

Quick Seeded No. 1

Wallin defeated Howard Quick in the finals of the city tournament last summer to become champion and only survivor of a field of sixteen entrants. As a result of Wallin's departure, Quick will now be seeded No. 1 player of the city by virtue of his runner-up position last year.

Further details concerning the second annual tournament sponsored by the Dixon Evening Telegraph will be published at a later date.

DIZZY REMAINS IMMOVABLE ON SALARY DEMAND

Expect Cardinals, Dean To Settle Rift However

New York, March 18.—(AP)—Depending, of course, on whether "Dizzy" Dean makes it stick, the abdication of the great Jerome Herman Dean from the St. Louis Cardinals will just about spell flowers and soft music for the 1937 pennant hopes of the gas house gang.

With Dizzy fogging 'em in, the Cards stand out as a potential one-two shot in the coming National league race.

As a potential 25-game winner, Dean would bolster any club. With the Cards, who have none too many first-rate hurlers, his absence would leave Lon Warneke, obtained from the Cubs over the winter, as the only seasoned hurler.

Warneke Left

Dean, by winning 244 games last season, just about single-handedly brought the Cards into a second-place tie in the final standings, only five games back of the Giants. Without these games—and it's about as sure as death and taxes that the Cards can't pull another 25-game winner out of the hat now—St. Louis may wind up 10 games father back. This conceivably could leave the Cards at the tail-end of the first division, or even in the second position.

Wants $50,000

Dean wants $50,000, says he'll quit the game if he doesn't get it.

Although the "Great One" laughs at the club's $22,500 offer, and the Cards claim they certainly won't meet his demands, the whole thing is being talked about in baseball circles with the "tongue-in-cheek" idea. The holdout ballyhoo, begun in the Babe Ruth era with the Yankees, is leading most observers to believe the Dean thing will be ironed out in the week's wash, and that Dizzy and the gas house gang bosses are doing it either (1) to hear themselves threaten each other, or (2) to get the headlines the squawk publicity naturally brings.

Mrs. John Tyler was the first widow of a president to receive an annuity from the government. She got $5000 yearly which has become the traditional pension grant by congress. The only gratuity Martha Washington received was the free mailing privilege.

BADGER BOXERS NEXT OPPONENTS FROM VILLANOVA

Interest Reaching Peak At Wisconsin in Box- ing

With only two more matches remaining on the home schedule, boxing interest at the University of Wisconsin is now at the season's peak. The Badger boxers' next opponents will be the hardy leather-pushers of Villanova college, who have been something of a sensation in eastern college boxing circles this season. The Wisconsin-Villanova match will be held in the field house, Friday night.

This match was arranged by Harry Stuhldreher, Badger director of athletics and football coach, who came to Wisconsin last spring after 11 years as football coach at Villanova. Naturally, Stuhldreher has a warm spot in his heart for Villanova, and his former connection with that school was responsible for the scheduling of this match. Bob Reagan, Coach Stuhldreher's first assistant here, as he was at Villanova, who is also a Grade A boxing fan, wherever he happens to be, has warned Johnny Walsh, Badger boxing coach, to expect tough competition when his boys tackle the Villanova Wildcats, Friday.

Villanova has had a boxing team for five years but was not particularly formidable until this season, when the Wisconsin-Villanova match was scheduled. Coach Walsh thought it would serve as a mid-season "breather" but the Wildcats shown themselves one of the best teams in the East this season and Walsh now figures that they will be every bit as tough as Louisiana State or West Virginia.

Outstanding Villanova boxer is Capt. Tony Sala, eastern intercollegiate 175 pound champion since his sophomore year, who also captained the 1936 Wildcat football team. Villanova is, however, strong in other weight classes, notably at 115, 145 and 165 pounds.

Following the Villanova match, the Badgers will engage the West Virginia boxing team in the last home match of the year, March 29. They will wind up their season with a trip to Pullman, Wash., April 16, to box Washington State college, which recently won the Pacific Coast intercollegiate championship for the third successive year.

Hafey Chafing To Resume Baseball

Tampa, Fla., March 18.—(AP)—First division hopes of the Cincinnati Reds rose somewhat today with word from the veteran Chick Hafey that he was "tired" to get back into harness. He received instructions telegraphed by General Manager Warren C. Giles to report May 1.

Hafey, on the voluntary retired list since May, 1935, previously had expressed a desire to re-enter the game, but frowned on terms offered by Giles.

SEMI-PRO BALL BIG BUSINESS

Baseball Congress Estab- lishes 48 State Meets

Pittsburgh, Pa.—(Special)—Semi-pro baseball this year will be classified as big business, according to J. Honus Wagner, "Hans" of National league fame—now czar of sandlot baseball.

The semi-pro chief said 48 state tournaments, some of which would be preceded by district meets, were being established by the National Semi-Pro Baseball Congress. More than $300,000 would be paid as prize money to the various winners, Wagner predicted.

State championship clubs, Honus said, would then be eligible to compete in the national finals at Wichita, Kan., in August with the national championship team assured a minimum cash prize of $5,000. Ten teams will share in the distribution of prize money in the national finals.

Get Mileage

Under uniform plan of the National Semi-Pro Baseball Congress, Wagner said, each of the teams entering a state tournament will receive a mileage allowance. Five leading teams also in each state will be awarded prize money. State championship club is presented with Honus Wagner State Championship Trophy, donated by the high commissioner.

More athletes will be represented in sandlot baseball than perhaps any other sport, Wagner declared. There will be 35,000 clubs, each with a roster of approximately 16 players. That means over a half million players represented in the sport.

Two reasons were advanced by Wagner for the revival of interest in semi-pro baseball.

"Better times and more incentive made possible by the National semi-pro program," the sandlot chief concluded.

Semi-pro teams desiring information on the complete details of national program may obtain information through all leading sporting goods dealers or by writing National Semi-Pro Baseball Congress, Wichita, Kansas.

however, he said he was in the "pink of condition" and requested the management's best offer.

"I told him," said Giles, "to report in Cincinnati May 1 and to work out for a couple of weeks and if in his and manager (Charles) Dressen's opinion he was ready to play regularly, we wouldn't have much trouble getting together on a contract."

Bright covered the 7½ miles from the Ferry Building to the Ocean Beach in the remarkable time of 39:52, running 12 miles an hour at times. Here is Bright crossing the finish line with the timer recording the fact that the old record of 40:06.2 had been shattered.

BROWNS NEED MOUNDMEN TO WIN CONTESTS

Hornsby Refuses To Predict Future For St. Louis

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT
San Antonio, Tex., March 18.—(AP)—Manager Rogers Hornsby's complaint for his St. Louis Browns is:

He needs winning pitchers. That, coupled with the defiance of his holdout outfield star, Roy (Beau) Bell, voted the American League's most valuable 1936 freshman after a 344 season at the plate, has the aging "rajah" in a deeply conservative mood. He declined to predict anything except that the Browns would finish in the American League.

Hornsby listed as his mound staff Jack Knott, Al Thomas, Elton Hoggsett, Les Tietje, Oral Hildebrand, Russ Van Atta, Earl Caldwell, Lou Koupal and three youngsters, Elton Walkup, Sig Jackucki and Howard Mills.

First Well-Protected

First base will be well protected with Bottomley, lusty hitter, and Harry Davis, a fair hitter up from Toledo, scrapping for the post.

A swatting rookie from Atlanta, Gerard Lipscomb may give Tommi Carey a fight for second base. Bill Knickerbocker is a cinch at shortstop and Harlan Clift will handle third. Hornsby admits he may slip into a few games and pronounced himself in tip-top condition.

The veteran Rollie Hemsley will be understood behind the plate by Chubby Tommy Heath from Toronto.

The outfield, if Bell signs, will have Joe Vosmik in left, Sam West in center and Bell in right, with Ethan Allen, Mel Mazzera and Ed Coleman in reserve. Allen, veteran major leaguer, would slip into Bell's slot if contract trouble keeps him out of action.

HUGE REDUCTION IN STATE BUDGET WILL BE SOUGHT

20 Per Cent Slashing Necessary to Bring About a Balance

Springfield, Ill., March 18—(AP)—Non-budget appropriation bills, mostly for more state aid to schools, had the definite disapproval of the Horner administration today, while state employees had small prospect for a general restoration of their 1933 payouts.

With the biennial budget already out of balance by nearly $19,000,000, Horner told the state's top-ranking officials the financial problem would be more acute if the legislature enacts any of the appropriation bills not endorsed by the administration.

Bills already introduced would increase the provisional deficit by more than $40,000,000, the governor said at his budget conference yesterday.

Most of the non-administration requests for funds involve state aid to schools. Educational organizations want the distributive fund appropriation increased from $13,000,000 to more than $29,000,000 a year. School men also are demanding emergency help for high schools and special expenditures elsewhere.

Still avoiding the alternative of increasing taxation to pay the bills, Horner asked the aid of the other officials in preventing adoption of the privately-sponsored measures.

Asks Reductions
The governor instructed his own subordinates and requested others at the conference to re-examine their appropriation requests and be prepared to take reductions.

Starting Tuesday afternoon, the specific job of trimming the budget will be undertaken at the executive mansion. The governor and Finance Director S. L. Nudelman will sit in with the appropriation chairmen, Senator W. E. C. Clifford of Champaign and Rep. James P. Boyle of Chicago, and their sub-committees. Each governmental agency will be considered separately.

Many of the provisional budget requests provided for restoration of the pay cuts ordered in 1933 as an economy measure. No general policy was decided upon, but Horner said:

"I should say we're not in a position to increase all employees in every department."

One possibility was some employees could be given more pay during 1937-39 biennium, without blanket raises.

Fixed Expenses
Not counting the ear-marked funds, the state must meet fixed expenditures of more than $143,000,000 for bond issues, old age pensions, relief, the courts, the legislature and other items that can't be trimmed.

That means, it was pointed out, that a balanced budget requires that twenty per cent be trimmed from the other $96,000,000 requested.

Unitemized "lump sum" appropriations are illegal, Attorney General Otto Kerner warned, and couldn't be defended in court. In the provisional budget the insurance department followed the general 1935 practice of lumping its requests into one sum, without specifying in detail how the money should be spent.

The sub-committees at the budget conferences probably will last several weeks.

Representing the senate with Clifford will be Francis J. Loughran, Chicago Democrat, and Earl B. Searcy, Springfield Republican. Sitting with Boyle from the house will be R. B. Lager, Carlyle Democrat, and Reed F. Cutler, Lewistown Republican.

FLY ROD FOR PAN FISH

By Harold C. Hollis

To thousands of anglers the small pan fishes—bluegills, rock bass, crappies and perch—are known for their splendid table qualities, but only a few know how to take them in the way that provides the most sport. They are often known as "kids' fish" and it is true that many a youngster has received his piscatorial initiation by way of the pan fish route. Live lures account for the majority of pan fish, but there is a better way to take them. That is with the artificial fly.

To get the most sport out of this type of fishing, don't use your heavy bass fly rod, but instead your light dry fly rod. Then with fine leaders you will have to play your fish and will give them a chance to show what they can do.

The most interesting lure to use is, of course, the dry fly. These little fellows, the bluegills and sunfish particularly, go for a dry fly with an eagerness not exceeded by that of undersize rainbow trout—and you probably know what that is. In the evening a dry fly will bring a strike at almost every cast and will produce many good fish. It will take plenty of fish in the middle of the day, but a larger percentage of these will be small ones.

Bluegills will be found in the same waters as large-mouth bass—around lily pads and weed beds. Work these places with the dry fly first and then if the size of the fish taken proves disappointing, try a sunken. Because of the avidity of the small ones for flies I use rather large flies, No. 8 or 6 in dry flies and 6's or 4's in wet flies.

Crappies, perch, and rock bass lie a little deeper than bluegills and are less often taken on dry flies, although in the evening one may pick up some good crappies or rock bass with this lure. Crappies like to lie near sunken objects such as tree tops or brush piles, and if you find the place where they are you may be playing a fish most of the time. But if your casts are falling 10 feet or more from the right spot, you probably won't get a strike. Rock bass are found around rocky shores and are frequently taken in small-mouth bass rivers. For these fish very small spinner flies or the lightest of fly rod spoons which can be cast with a delicate rod are best.

Drawn gut leaders are best but are rather hazardous when fishing around tree tops or heavy weeds. The lightest of natural gut (refina) is adapted to most conditions.

As for flies, almost any pattern will do. A No. 8 brown bumble and a No. 6 Montreal have been my most successful ones, but I have taken panfish on many flies that have proved absolute lemons for trout. The very small cork body bugs are good and don't have to be changed when a fish is taken as is usually necessary with a dry fly.

As a rule a pan fish taken on a fly is not hooked deeply and can be released without danger of injuring him. Occasionally, however, one takes a fly deeply and then it is difficult to remove it on account of the small size of the fish's mouth. A hook disgorger, which can be made of a small stick notched in one end is a big help in this kind of fishing.

The largest bluegill I ever took—one pound and four ounces—I hooked on a No. 1-0 cork body bug while fishing for bass. He put up a better fight than any bass of the same weight I have seen.

Communism

"Quin of Family and Society" Says His Holiness Today

Vatican City, March 18—(AP)—Pope Pius XI, striking at Communism as "the ruin of family and society," called up on the employers of world labor in a historic encyclical today to meet "the great duties imposed by justice."

"The wage earner is not to receive as alms what is his due in justice," said the Pontiff.

"Let no one attempt with trifling charitable donations to exempt himself from the great duties imposed by justice."

"x x x The very dignity of the workingman makes him justly and acutely sensitive to the duties of others in this regard."

Thus, "under the eye of God," he sought to root the "false" doctrine of Communism, which, he said, "is founded on pure materialism which rejects all spiritual values."

The Holy Father, in a vigorous attack on the forces he has fought even throughout his recent serious illness, declared only the Catholic church could effectively oppose what he termed the ravages of the anti-God campaign which shakes society to its very foundation.

He devoted several paragraphs to demonstrating how the Catholic religion in the family and the state was the best equipped agent to combat Communism, which he asserted, "will precipitate one and all to ruin and catastrophe."

The encyclical, entitled "Divini Redemptoris," accused the Communists of having played upon the susceptibility of the working classes with promises of alleviation of "many undeniable abuses."

The Holy Father called upon Christian employers to combat Communism by recognizing "the inalienable rights of the working man."

He urged priests throughout the world to stand in the front lines of the battle against Communism and exhorted lukewarm Catholics everywhere to renew the active practice of their faith.

The Pontiff pleaded with all Christian states to prevent within their territories "the ravages of the anti-God campaign."

An official resume of the encyclical quoted the Pope as writing:

"The doctrine of Communism is founded on pure materialism which rejects all spiritual values."

"Thus, man's liberty is destroyed. All rights of his human personality are denied."

"Man becomes as if he were a mere cog in a collectivist machinery which has exclusive and unlimited control over the lives of men."

"Hierarchy and authority are nullified. The dignity and indissolubility of marriage are set aside. The family is profaned, woman torn from her home and from the care of her children."

"Religion is dubbed 'the opiate of the people' and assailed with every weapon at hand."

"The very idea of God is rejected and condemned."

TROOP 72 PLANS PROGRAM

Troop 72, First Methodist church, under the direction of Scoutmaster Homer Schildberg has outlined an extensive spring program.

At the regular Tuesday night meeting in the church, the troop committee composed of S. W. Naylor, A. E. Marth and L. W. Hinkle together with Field Executive E.

A. Rowley, and the troop planned a Parent's Night to be held in the near future with a scramble dinner at the church.

Troop 72 will go on a vacation hike during the annual spring recess at the Dixon schools. Boys of the troop have also subscribed to "Boy's Life" magazine for the ensuing year.

Troop 72 now has a thriving membership of nearly twenty-five boys, one third of which are now in uniform. Scoutmaster Homer

SUPREME COURT JUSTICES LIVE CLOSE TOGETHER

Five of Nine Dwell In Apartment Houses in Capital

By EDDY GILMORE
Washington, March 18—(AP)—Six of the Supreme Court justices live within shouting distance of one another. The other three are in the same geographic section of the capital.

Five are apartment house dwellers—Justices Brandeis, Cardozo, McReynolds, Sutherland and Van Devanter. The rest reside in large comfortable, but by no means pretentious, homes.

Justices Brandeis' old-fashioned apartment house, where he has study rooms of one floor and living quarters on another, is just around the corner from Justice Stone.

Closest neighbors are Justices Cardozo and Van Devanter who have apartments in a big building of pseudo-Gothic architecture on one of Washington's most fashionable thoroughfares.

On an adjoining corner towers the sumptuous apartment residence of Justice Sutherland, so swanky it doesn't display a street number.

Three quiet blocks west rises the stately stone home of Chief Justice Hughes—the set-in front door of which hangs on yard-long antique wrought iron hinges.

Down near the city's center is Justice Butler's squat red brick house sporting a jaunty little flag-pole over a fine paneled doorway.

Justice McReynolds moved to his present quarters in one of the capital's first palatial apartment-hotels after the government took over his former dwelling for office space.

Justice Roberts' home is a spacious white clapboard house with green shutters and rambling side

Decades

Years Elapse Before Two Men Are Tried For Killings

Brewton, Fla., March 18—(AP)—Charles Howard was under sentence of four years imprisonment today on a manslaughter charge which he returned to face after two decades as a fugitive.

A jury last night convicted him of killing James Andress, a railroad worker at Foshie, Ala., in 1914. Howard pleaded self defense.

Of his return to Alabama, Howard explained, "I just wanted to come home."

New Castle, Pa., March 18—(AP)—Gray-haired Rocco Esposito was freed today of a charge that he killed a man 31 years ago. The jury deliberated 21 hours. Esposito denied he shot Francesco Romeo here in 1906.

Freedom meant that Esposito, now 56, might return to his wife and four sons and daughter in his adopted home at Kirkland Lake, Ont., Canada.

Frank Costa, a special investigator for Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti, arrested Esposito at a New Year's party last January 1, and returned him to Pennsylvania in an attempt to clear the mystery about the shooting of Romeo, a laborer.

He was the second man to be tried and acquitted on an indictment that had laid almost forgotten for three decades.

ADAIR BOOSTED FOR JUDGESHIP

Illinois Senators Agree on Appointment of Ex-Representative

Oklahoma Colleges Dominate Mat Entry List, National Meet

Chicago, March 18—(AP)—Illinois judicial and legislative circles foresaw a fight today over the appointment of a successor to Federal Judge J. Earl Major, who was placed yesterday on the Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals.

A telegram from Governor Horner to President Roosevelt, asking for a hearing on the possible nomination of former Representative J. Leroy Adair of Quincy, started the speculation. While Horner's telegram stated no opposition to Adair, it was recalled he supported Attorney General Otto Kerner and Maurice V. Joyce of East St. Louis for the Circuit Court position.

Attorney General Cummings, to whom Horner's telegram was forwarded from President Roosevelt's vacation site in Georgia, said he informed the governor he would confer with him at Horner's convenience. The justice department studies the records of prospective federal appointees and reports to the White House.

Senators Agreed
Washington sources said Illinois senators, James Hamilton Lewis and William H. Dieterich, have agreed to recommend Adair for Major's post at Springfield but indicated an appointment would not be made in the near future.

After the U. S. senate unanimously confirmed Judge Major's appointment late yesterday the Springfield jurist, whose home is Hillsboro, said he was "deeply appreciative of the honor bestowed upon me" and expressed the belief he would be called at the April term of court.

A second vacancy on the Court of Appeals exists, but no action was expected immediately to fill it. The openings were created by the death of Judge Louis B. Fitzhugh of Bloomington and retirement of Judge Samuel Aischler because of ill health.

Others elected included: Mrs. John Powell, Carmi, vice president; Mrs. D. C. Beatty, Galesburg, recording secretary; Mrs. Alexander Schlenders, Quincy, treasurer; Mrs. A. KANSAS FLYER OPENING NEW TRACK CAREER

Runs Mile In Only 3 Seconds Under World Record

New York, March 18—(AP)—A new streamlined model of the Kansas Flyer was roaring west today. Glenn Cunningham was starting on a second career.

Just when the boys were ready to sidetrack the Old Flyer to the roundhouse, he changed their minds by running the classic Columbia Mile in the Knights of Columbus games last night in 4 minutes, 8.7 seconds.

This was only three-tenths of a second slower than his own world indoor record, and the fourth fastest mile ever to win a race, indoors or out.

Cunningham himself bettered it, and New Zealand's Jack Lovelock bettered it the other time. Glenn set the world indoor mark of 4:08.4 and the world outdoor record of 4:06.8, both in 1934. Lovelock did 4:07.6 at Princeton in 1933.

"Now what do you say to that rumor you're going to quit?" a reporter asked when Cunningham came into the dressing room last night.

"Say, I'm just starting all over again," replied Cunningham.

Still weak from a recent attack of the flu, Cunningham outlined a plan for four more races in the next two weeks, and spent the rest of his breath praising his fellow Kansan and greatest rival, Archie San Romani, who ran the fastest race of his career last night and finished second.

San Romani, one yard behind at the tape, was clocked at 4:08.9, and Luigi Beccali of Italy, who also ran his finest indoor race, was a foot further back in 4:09.

The Coliseum at Rome probably seated between 40,000 and 50,000 people.

SLAKE DANCE SECRET BARED BY AN AUTHOR

Of perennial interest are the well-known and widely publicized snake dances of the Hopi Indian performed to call down rain from their Gods. Speculation has been rife as to the secret of the immunity of the priests to the bites of rattlesnakes which they carry in their mouths during ceremonial dances. Hypotheses have been many and futile. A writer in the current Scientific American has, however, learned the secret from a certain educated Hopi Indian whose name remains undisclosed for reasons of policy.

In the past, persons have tried to explain this secret by the theory that snakes are rendered harmless by removal of fangs and venom sacs. Others have guessed that the snakes were treated to sac-paralyzing treatments. Still others theorized that antidotes were mixed in the paint that daubs the bodies of the dancers. The truth is simpler than any of these. According to the Hopi Indian informant—who openly boasted of his Christianity and laughed at the superstitious secrecy of his people—the snakes are gathered in a ceremonial room where they are washed according to a ritual laid down by the legendary "Snake People of the Underworld." The poisonous snakes are then paralyzed, infuriated, and forced to strike over and over again. The goats used are long wooden poles and the targets for the fangs of the snakes are more often the hearts or livers of freshly slaughtered animals. Sometimes the entire carcass of a jackrabbit or a prairie dog may be used. They are thus completely "milked" of their poison since every time they strike they will press more of the venom into the target. Once the poison sac is completely exhausted it is many hours before the snake will have stored up an additional supply in a sufficient quantity to be dangerous. The priests, therefore, having timed the "milk" properly, can handle the snakes with impunity and complete the dance ceremony.

VANDALIA AND ZEIGLER OPEN STATE TOURNEY

Champaign, Ill., March 18—(AP)—Sixteen teams of Illinois youngsters, tester by regional and sectional play, were primed today for the opening of the state high school basketball championship battle in the University of Illinois gymnasium.

The honor of firing blast this morning fell to Vandalia and Zeigler, with Athens and Joliet slated to follow. The afternoon schedule pitted Wells, the Chicago public high school champion, against Galesburg; Collinsville against Carbondale, and Woodstock against Oblong.

Decatur's defending champions will go into action tonight in the last game of the first round, with LaSalle-Peru as the opposition, after Pekin and Rushville, and Dundee and Moline, stage their battles for places in the second round.

SHOOTING CONFIDENCE FOR BETRAYING

Paris, March 18—(AP)—Beautiful Madeline La Ferriere declared today she shot and wounded Count Charles de Chambrun, former ambassador to Italy, because he "betrayed my love" for a man "famous to let me speak his name."

The striking brunette invoked the unwritten code of diplomatic honor as her defense, claiming the French envoy had betrayed her confidence.

The wounding of the French envoy yesterday as he boarded Lieke Brussels express caused a major sensation in society and diplomatic circles with speculation rife as to the identity of the "great Italian man of state," whose love Miss La Ferriere accused Chambrun of causing her to lose.

French friends of the 30-year-old woman said she told them she had won the affections of the "great Italian man of state" after recent interviews.

On her many trips between Paris and Rome, where she was received in diplomatic society, she was known to have been granted several interviews by Premier Benito Mussolini.

Chambrun's condition was reported at a private hospital as satisfactory.

INSURANCE CODE COMES TO TALLY IN ILL. SENATE

Passage Will Be Urged in Report by Senate Committeemen

Springfield, Ill., March 18—(AP)—Director Ernest Palmer's insurance code, one of the major pieces of legislation before the 60th General Assembly, appeared well on its way today toward an early vote in the senate.

With the legislature adjourned until next week, the senate insurance committee awaited receipt of proposed amendments to the bill, scheduled to be discussed next week.

The third and final public hearing on the measure was held yesterday, after which committee members indicated the measure might be sent out to the floor of the senate with a recommendation for passage.

The committee tabled amendments on the section affecting Lloyd's of London, after which it was indicated that an attempt would be made to vote the measure up or down as drafted.

Faces House Hurdle
Should the bill pass the senate, it still would face a major hurdle in getting favorable house action. Two years ago, the code was approved by the house but killed in the senate.

Meanwhile, major labor bills pushed toward the roll call stage in the senate.

The bill of James O. Monroe, Collinsville Democrat, providing an eight-hour day for women except those employed in restaurants, hotels and mercantile establishments, was sent to second reading along with a measure sponsored by Oral P. Tuttle, Harrisburg Republican, providing for a five-day work week.

Passage of the women's eight-hour bill sponsored by Francis J. Loughran, Chicago Democrat, and supported by the state department of labor and the Illinois Federation of Labor, was urged by the senate public welfare committee.

However several senators indicated they would offer amendments to the measure when it reaches second reading contending the bill as drafted does not provide for resp. periods, inventories and fluctuations.

MARINE BALLAD IS SUNG AROUND ENTIRE WORLD

All around the world the U. S. Marines have sung their famous hymn, "From the Halls of Montezuma," which harks back to their invasion of Mexico City in September, 1847, near the close of the Mexican War. Elated with the victory of American arms over the Mexicans, an officer sat down in the Aztec Club and scribbled the first verse of the popular sea-soldier ballad.

Thus the Marines account for the beginning of the sprightly hymn which has become a bulwark of their esprit de corps. Later the song grew by leaps and bounds, adding verse after verse until a half-score of stanzas and

STORIES IN STAMPS BY I. S. KLEIN

FLED HOME FOR ART'S SAKE

TWICE young Jacques Callot ran away from home, with the hope of learning the fine art of designing and engraving in Rome. Twice he was brought back by his relatives. The third time, the Duke of Lorraine, ruler of Callot's native province, sent him to the Papal Court in Rome and there, finally, the boy pursued his favorite study.

This was more than 300 years ago, when wars raged over Europe. Conflict, however, did not disturb Callot, and he soon became the greatest engraver of his time.

Rulers commissioned him to engrave designs of their victories, but when Louis XIII of France defeated the Duke of Lorraine at Nancy, Callot's home town, and then demanded that Callot make a design for this defeat, the engraver refused.

In 1635, at the age of 42, Callot died. His portrait appears on French stamps of 1935 and 1937.

versions were known to the Leathernecks.

It was only in recent years that the sea soldiers began to take stock of their hymn and to search for its origin. They found the music in an old French opera, "Genevieve de Brabant," but the verses appeared to be the work of several unknown authors.

Then a deliberate pruning was made of the verses and many of them were discarded as inappropriate to the spirit and traditions of the corps. The boiled down version is now composed of just three stanzas which begin appropriately enough at the place of its origin, and end with the assurance that marines will be found guarding the streets of heaven.

The unknown author of the first verse little thought that his words would be an inspiration to marines of succeeding generations who were to fight in the Civil, Spanish-American and other wars, or that some day it would echo on the battlefields of France.

While the Fourth Brigade of Marines was serving overseas, the Stars and Stripes, official publication of the A. E. F., related the story of a wounded French cavalry officer, who was carried to a Yankee geld hospital. He could not identify the troops which had fought at his regiment's left.

"A lot of them are mounted troops by this time," he explained, "for when our men would be shot from their horses, these youngsters would give one running leap and gallop ahead as cavalry. I believe they are your soldiers from Montezuma. At least when they advanced this morning they were all singing 'From the Halls of Montezuma to the Shores of Tripoli.'"

THREE PIGEONS HATCH FROM TWO EGGS

South Bend, Ind., (AP)—One of Camiel DeBock's pigeons hatched three squabs from two eggs, which DeBock says is the first time this has happened in the 29 years he has been raising birds.

The egg containing the twins cracked lengthwise instead of around and the squabs came from each half of the shell. All three birds are perfectly formed and in good health.

HULL CALLS FOR END OF HURLING PERSONALITIES

Hopes LaGuardia and Hitler Can Find Other Speech Themes

Washington, March 18—(AP)—Secretary Hull called today for an end to the international controversy over anti-Hitler remarks of Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York.

The state department head issued a brief statement after making a second apology to German Ambassador Hans Luthre, who protested against LaGuardia's designation of Reichsfuehrer Hitler as "a man without honor" at a New York anti-Nazi mass meeting.

"I am personally hopeful," Hull's statement said, "that all who are participating in the present controversy, which is marked by bitter and vituperative utterances in this country and in Germany, may soon reach the conclusion that it would be to the best interests of both countries for them to find other subjects which can be discussed more temperately."

LaGuardia said in New York last night after learning of Hull's apology:

"Again I am pleased that Hitler was so quick to recognize himself. The translation by the German government of the term 'satisfaktionsfähig' ('Man without honor') is absolutely correct."

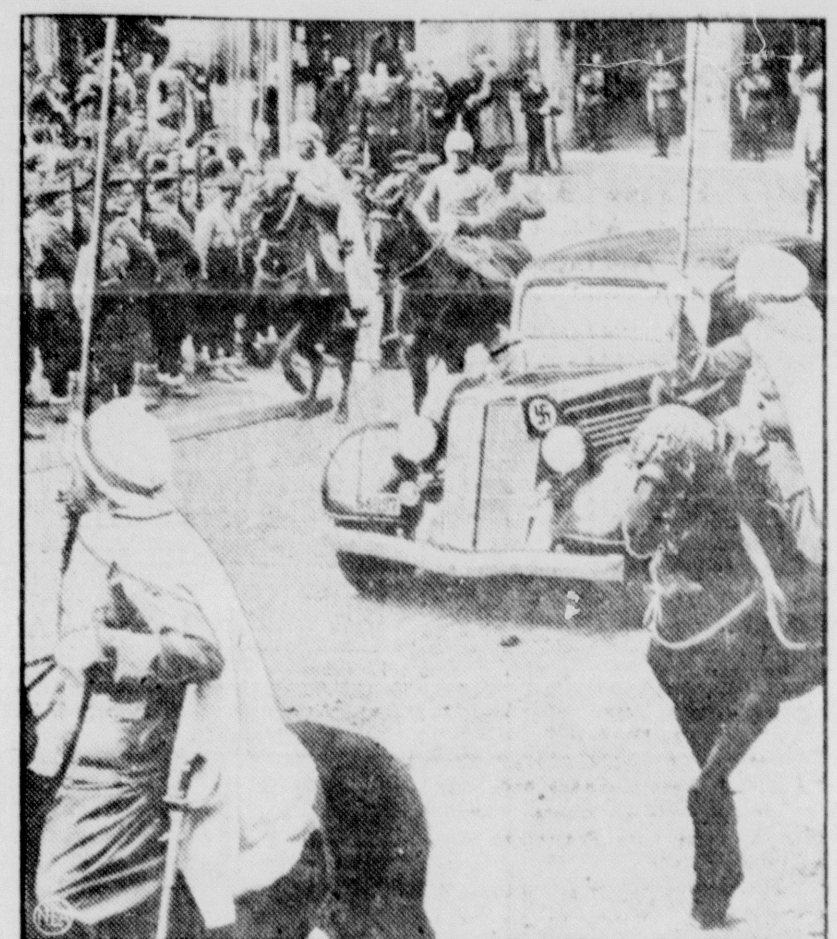

BERLIN COMMENT

Berlin, March 18—(AP)—Germany's regimented press capped its two-week anti-American campaign with a declaration today in Berlin's Lokal Anzeiger that "Washington should add to the neutrality bill an edict to protect government leaders and institutions of foreign states."

The paper said "Anti-German agitation has reached the point of war days."

United States Ambassador William E. Dodd was reported by sources close to the foreign office to have talked over the situation with Foreign Minister von Neurath while a reiterated protest against

Moor-Nazi Blend in Spanish Scene

White-swathed Moorish troops, the helmeted German officer and the Nazi swastika emblem on the automobile all blend into this curious picture as Gen. Wilhelm Faupel, German ambassador to Nationalist Spain, was welcomed at Salamanca and escorted through the streets to the city hall. There he conferred with Gen. Francisco Franco, rebel leader, while German and Italian troops filled the rebel ranks.

New York's Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia was being delivered to Secretary Hull in Washington yesterday.

DEFENDS COURT; SAYS CHANGES WOULDN'T HELP

Law Instructor Outlines Program To Meet Criticism

St. Louis, March 18—(AP)—A two-point program to meet criticism of the Supreme Court was advanced today by Dean Albert J. Harno of the University of Illinois college of law.

The points were:

1. Greater ease in the amendment of the federal Constitution, and

2. Clarification of the commerce clause and due process provision.

Speaking before students and faculty of the Washington University law school, Dean Harno said additional members of the Court "would solve nothing."

Asserting there would be no assurance they would uphold cast of Congress, he asked "would they reverse previous decisions, such as the NRA case which was unanimously decided? Even if they upheld this Congress, might they not be wholly out of sympathy with the next?"

"The proposal does not strike at the issue," he continued. "Relief calls for clarifying amendment to the Constitution. Amendment is the orderly way through which basic changes should be wrought."

Dean Harno urged the legal profession to assume the leadership in sponsoring remedial action by instituting a long-time program to influence the social outlook and views of lawyers through more comprehensive legal education.

"SPECIMEN" CHECK LOUNCES LONG WAY

Charlotte, Mich.—(AP)—When Kenneth Brown gave his Charlotte high school bookkeeping class a little lesson in check writing he also gave several local merchants headaches.

Brown passed out blank checks and told the students how to fill them out. After class all checks except one for $2 were returned to him. The $2 check, signed by one of the pupils, was lost. It turned up at a bank.

Investigation showed that the check was presented to a bakery by an unidentified boy. The baker gave it to a Battle Creek truck driver. The truck driver passed it along and after going through several hands the check returned to the bank for payment.

VETERAN DISDAINS STREAMLINED TRAILER

Arcadia, Fla.—(AP)—William Wallace looks disdainfully on the modern streamlined trailer.

The one he built 10 years ago, has spent nine winters in, and is comfortably equipped, is good enough for him, he says.

Wallace figures he and his family have traveled more than 200,000 miles in the trailer.

FENWICK SEEMS BOUND FOR PREP CATHOLIC TITLE

Eliminates Cotter Of Winona, Minn., First Round

Chicago, March 18—(AP)—First round play continued today in the 14th annual National Catholic interscholastic basketball tournament at Loyola University, with Fenwick high of Chicago already stamped as one team with a good chance of reaching the finals Sunday night.

Fenwick, champion of the Chicago Catholic league, turned back a big quintet from Cotter high of Winona, Minn., 33 to 17, in the final game of the opening program last night.

De LaSalle Wins

De LaSalle high, also of Chicago, the defending titleholder, had little trouble getting by St. Ambrose of Davenport, the Iowa state Catholic champions, 32 to 19. De LaSalle held only a 16 to 13 margin at the half but in the final period turned on an offensive which quickly left the Iowans far behind.

In the most closely-contested game, St. Patrick's of Kankakee, Ill., defeated Central Catholic of Fort Wayne, Ind., 26 to 24. The Illinois team, behind most of the game, refused to give up and in the final quarter, with speedy Eddie Quigley pacing their attack, the St. Pats finally went ahead, 24 to 23, and then picked up a couple of charity tosses, for good measure.

DAILY HEALTH

SYPHILIS IS CURABLE

Syphilis is a germ disease. It is caused by a micro-organism of a protozoan nature, that is, one belonging to the animal kingdom.

The infection is spread by sexual intercourse, though occasionally it is contracted through the use of forks, spoons, cups, glasses, smoking pipes, musical instruments or barbers' tools, carrying the infectious agent.

It may also be congenitally acquired. A woman suffering from the active disease may give birth to a child infected with the germs of syphilis.

Syphilis is curable. The earlier the disease is treated, the more readily is cure effected. Delay in treatment may result in irreparable damage to the vital organs of the body.

At the site of infection the (portal of the entrance) there usually develops a characteristic sore, called a chancre. The treatment of syphilis is not directed at this sore, because by the time it appears the germs have spread wide throughout the body.

Infection may also occur without the development of a chancre. Hence it is possible for a person to have suffered an infection with the syphilis germ, without ever having noticed any venereal sore. For this reason it is wise for every person contemplating marriage to have a blood test made.

Every pregnant woman should have a blood test early in pregnancy, as well as at five months and at eight months. Should the woman be found to have syphilis, it is possible by adequate treatment instituted early during the pregnancy to prevent the transmission of the disease to her child.

The individual infected with syphilis should promptly secure treatment from a competent physician. He should avoid quack or patented remedies and every form of treatment which promises speedy cure.

There is as yet no dependable "speedy cure." The routine treatment now available calls for continuous medication for one or more years. Cure is not established until repeated blood examinations and at least one spinal fluid examination are negative. After the "cure" the patient should have blood examinations once every six months for at least two years.

Every young adult should know how to practice venereal prophylaxis after possible exposure to infection. For specific details, he should consult his physician.

Gonorrhea Facts

Gonorrhea is caused by a germ called the gonococcus. Most commonly the disease is contracted through sexual intercourse, but it can be gotten in other ways.

While primarily a disease of the sexual system, gonorrhea may also involve the eyes. If not treated promptly and adequately when it does, it may cause blindness.

The complications of gonorrhea are numerous and serious. Gonorrhea in women frequently causes chronic inflammation of the uterine tubes. This condition often necessitates surgical treatment and is a common cause of sterility. Gonorrhea in the male may also cause sterility.

Other complications of gonorrhea are arthritis, heart disease and constriction of the urinary tract, called stricture. There is a common, widespread belief that gonorrhea in men is but a mild disease not more dangerous than "a catarrhal cold." This is an erroneous and disastrous belief.

Infected individuals who have delayed taking treatment or whose treatment was inadequate, may carry about the germs of gonorrhea in their system for years and may unwittingly infect numerous other individuals.

The disappearance of the acute symptoms of the infection and of the visible discharge may mislead the sufferer into believing that the disease is cured. To establish a cure, a number of successive tests must be made by a competent physician. Only when such tests fail to show the presence of gonococci can the individual be said to have been cured.

Gonorrhea, if properly treated at the beginning, may be cured without serious impairment of health. Patent medicines, self-treatment, or any other form of therapy other than that prescribed by a competent physician, are not only a waste of money but also endanger the well-being of the sufferer.

The gonorrhea patient must also be instructed on the rules of personal hygiene to be observed to safeguard himself and those with whom he comes in contact.

Venereal prophylaxis, when properly applied, will protect the exposed individual against gonorrhea as well as syphilis. The details of venereal prophylaxis can best be learned from one's own family physician.

HER NAME IN LIGHTS

BEGIN HERE TODAY

DAPHNE BRETT loved LARRY SMITH, architect. Larry had repeatedly asked her to marry him. But Daphne had always refused, not telling Larry, however, that she first wanted to lay aside sufficient money to launch JENNI-FER, her young sister, on a career.

Jennifer had proved the selfish sister from the start, defying Daphne at every turn. Finally Jennifer meets GORDON HERZBERG, theater producer, and apparently finds her work.

Then Daphne is sent on a two-months' sales tour across the continent. Before she leaves, Larry again asks her to marry him, and again she refuses. So Larry says goodby, assuming that Daphne cares more for her career than she does for him. The trip proves successful, but the thought of losing Larry tortures Daphne.

And when she returns she finds that Larry is now dating Jennifer!

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XX

DAPHNE said yes, she had certainly liked San Francisco and that she would like to have seen it when there was a Barbary coast. No, she said, she hadn't met anyone named Mickel when she was in Cleveland.

She did her very best to be the kind of a guest she should have been at Anne's annual party for her advertising agency friends but when 2 o'clock came, she picked herself up from her cushioned seat on the floor and slipped away to the bedroom to get her wrap.

Annie closed the door softly at her back and they were alone for the first time.

"Lovely party, Anne. Mr. Todd told me that he wanted you to do their spring book." She powdered her nose.

"I know all about that so let's skip it. What I want to know is what's happened to you?"

"We'll talk about it some other time, darling. I hear your guests screaming for you. That's a sure sign of success."

"Let 'em scream. Oh, I wish I'd had a chance to talk to you but you know how it is."

Daphne was getting into her wrap. "Of course, I do. Give me a ring at the office tomorrow."

ANNE stood at her back, looking into the same mirror. "What's the matter, Daphne? You look as though the devil himself had chased you across the country?"

Daphne shook her head and bit her lip in an effort to keep back the tears.

Anne was stunned. "Do I see tears? Have you had bad news?" Daphne nodded her head.

"The job?"

"No," Daphne said, "it's just that I'm an unpleasant girl. I'm cracking up because my sister stole my beau."

"Jennifer and Larry? But that's ridiculous. Why I've seen them together three or four times in the last month but I . . ." She realized she had said too much. "Was there some trouble between you, Daph?"

"Yes," Daphne drew on her gloves, "it was all my fault and Jennifer is beautiful so I guess I'd better get a grip on myself. Why shouldn't he fall for her?"

Anne pulled Daphne down on the bed beside her. "I'll tell you why, you little fool; because Jennifer isn't worth your little finger and because she is a . . . well, what kind of a girl is she who'd do a thing like this to her own sister? She knows that you were in love with Larry. You ought to teach her a lesson for her own good."

Teach Jennifer a lesson for her own good!

FOR Jennifer's good. For Larry's good. Jennifer had everything now. She had no reason not to believe that she could always take what she wanted, have everything she desired no matter who it hurt. She was young, beautiful, ruthless. And some day it would hurt her. That some day was still Daphne's responsibility. That thought she kept in mind.

"Do you mind terribly about Larry?" Jennifer asked her.

"Why should I?" she responded, coolly.

"I've got to rush if I'm going to meet Larry." "You understand why I don't ask him here, don't you, darling? I don't want to embarrass either of you" . . .

"Larry was showing me some plans today for the new building the Trepal school is putting up at Plantsport." . . . Larry this and Larry that.

Not by one small sign did Daphne betray the thing that happened to her when she heard his name on her sister's lips; the swift, hot pain that smote her and retreated slowly along an aching path of memory.

She picked up the threads where she had left them off and was astonished to see how few they were. She hadn't realized how completely Larry had filled her life, how many pleasant companions she had let go when she had found Larry.

"Daph," saw Gordon Herzberg today. He's got a marvelous new show. He took me to lunch and told me about it. There's a part that calls for a girl who is more your type but I'm sure I could do it and I think he's interested. So, I didn't pay any attention to the call from the Brown offices. I'd rather stay with Gordon if I can. Heavens, is that 10 of 7? I've got to fly. I've got a date." Jennifer flew.

That hurt, too. That new habit of saying, "I've got a date." Not saying where or with whom. Leaving her to guess that it would be with Larry.

ONE night Daphne allowed herself to get "weezy." She saw again the tender gestures that were part of Larry. Only the girl who received them was Jennifer and not herself. In the midst of her misery the telephone rang. "Hello," in a strangled voice. "Is Miss Brett in?" It was Larry.

"No," she said and put the receiver back.

Oh, Jennifer it isn't fair! You've always had everything. The best dolls when we were little. My new toys when you yelled for them and even when you didn't. Money for my livelihood. Money for good times while I tapped a typewriter all the time that I wanted to be an actress.

Be an actress. Be an actress. Be an actress. Be an actress.

Daphne sat up straight and thought about the thing that the phrase had put in her mind. The thing that would teach Jennifer.

Resolutely she got up and stalked into her living room and sat down at her desk. Then she opened the telephone book and drew a pad and pencil toward her.

She wrote: Buy paper and envelopes at Tiffany.

Ask Anne for name of fur rental.

Plan flowers.

Arrange Tuesday off for experiment.

Make out guest list.

Larry? ? ? Private dining room.

When she finished she studied the list of things to do with approval. "I'll start tomorrow," she said to herself. "With $3000 I ought to be able to have a little fun. Not to mention fireworks."

When Jennifer came in, about midnight, with no explanations, Daphne said to her, "What's Gordon Herzberg's home address, do you know?"

Calls Hitler Cad

That's Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia pointing a finger of scorn and shouting: "Hitler is not personally or diplomatically 'satisfactionsfähig,' before 20,000 cheering anti-Nazi at a rally in New York." Translated, "Satisfactionsfähig" means not giving satisfaction—hence a cad. In Berlin the speech was echoed with headlines: "German People Insulted!"

was introduced by Mrs. Bishop, after which a short summary of Sigmund Spoeth's "Art of Enjoying Music" was given by Marjorie Marine. The remainder of the program was devoted to compositions sung and played by Mrs. Harry Boiz, our guest singer. Mrs. Bishop and Marjorie Marine.

The program concluded with three popular numbers. "The Woodbird," "March Winds," and "It Didn't Suit Him."

The hostesses served delicious refreshments following the social hour. Guests were, Mrs. Lucille Fox, Miss Cora L. Vincent and Mrs. Dorothy Forney.

The March meeting of the Social Harmony club was held at the home of Mrs. Hazel Short with Mrs. Stella Milliken, Mrs. Alice Craig and Mrs. Blanche Hatland as assisting hostesses. Twenty-eight members were there answering the roll call by giving their favorite poem.

cent trip to California. Guests of the club were Mrs. Inez Johnson and Misses Leona Clark and Euna Hopkins. A piano solo "Humoresque," by Edith Fordham, and another playlet, "Betty's Blunder," by Mr. and Mrs. Russell Brandenburg completed the program. A lunch was served by Mrs. Manlius Lovegreen and Mrs. Russell Brandenburg.

Three nephews of the deceased were among the five priests who officiated or attended the requiem mass.

Mr. and Mrs. William Kranov were callers in Dixon the latter part of the week.

In all Catholic churches Sunday the altar crosses, statues and other religious symbols were veiled in purple cloth. This was done as a reminder of Passion Sunday and the call to its teaching. Next Sunday will be palm Sunday, and the beginning of Holy Week. Palms will be blessed on that day.

his technical knowledge. He was given a six-year term, may succeed Kennedy as chairman.

Jesse Loosen Up
Undercover congressional muttering over his tight-fisted policy on flood relief loans apparently has reached the alert ears of Jesse Jones. The towering RFC chairman has quietly ordered his subordinates to loosen up and be more lenient to needy flood victims.

At the height of the recent flood ravages, Congress rushed through a bill authorizing the RFC to set up a disaster relief corporation, with power to make "character" loans to flood sufferers. Some Congressmen wanted to take the relief agency out of the hands of the RFC because of Jesse's hard-boiled attitude on previous acts of this kind. This hostility was stilled, however, on the plea of the need for prompt action. But Jesse's critics warned that they would keep an eye on him.

Jesse has taken the hint. Since the enactment of the bill a month ago, 151 loans for a total of $156,000 have been granted and others are being rushed through at the rate of 50 to 60 a day. Requests from the flood area for government funds are pouring in daily in large numbers.

Judicial Merry-Go-Round
Visitors to the judiciary committee hearings have found more senators there than have been present of late on the Senate floor. In addition to the 18 committee members a dozen others drop in. . . . Mr. Caraway, in spite of a mouse-like entrance, is seen by Committee Chairman Ashurst, who extends a gallant hand to greet her. . . . Senator Tydings of Maryland and Brown of Michigan sit in the visitors' row, both chewing gum. . . . Signs posted throughout the room read "No Smoking Please." Senator Dietrich lights a cigar. . . . A cameraman says to the witness, "Shake your finger at the chairman." One shakes. The other shoots. . . . As the committee considers putting new blood into the Supreme court, the official record of the hearings is taken by 70 years old Charles A. Brown, crack shorthand reporter. . . . Ashurst, who has been snapping his fingers at Senate page boys for 25 years, has a snap like a pistol-shot. He snaps to make a newsman stop talking. . . . All committee members are dressed conservatively save Neely of West Virginia, who wears a race-track check suit. . . . Pested about the big chamber are seven Capitol policemen. . . . Many of the large number of women visitors display smart new spring hats.

Opera Star

Former Dixon Girl Is Mentioned Favorably in Review

The Wall Street Journal, published in New York, contained the following review of the opera "Mignon," presented by the Metropolitan Opera Co. there last Saturday, which will be of interest to Dixonites in that Josephine Antoinette, a former Dixon girl, appeared in the cast and was given fine mention in the review:

To her already long list of triumphs, Gladys Swarthout Saturday afternoon added that of the title role in Mignon, Ambrose Thomas' delightful light opera. The choice of singers for the roles was happy in every respect; it seemed as finely balanced a group as has been heard in any performance this season.

Although the limited compass of the voice of Galli-Marie, original Mignon, who created the role in 1866, is reflected in the score, Miss Swarthout demonstrated her wide vocal range in the rich tonal quality of the exceptionally low notes demanded of a soprano. In the first act she was particularly outstanding in introducing the melody, "Knowest Thou the Land?" which is heard throughout the orchestral score during the remainder of the opera. This drew enthusiastic applause of a packed audience; and when she repeated it as a trio with Messrs. Hackett and Pinza at the close, curtain call after curtain call was demanded.

Miss Swarthout's aptness as an actress also enlivened the role; it was in this particular that her scenes with Ezio Pinza, who enacted the aged, wandering harper, Lothario, were outstanding. For undoubtedly Mr. Pinza, in addition to possessing a rich and pleasing baritone, has proved himself one of the finest actors on the operatic stage. Never for a moment did a single movement or gesture bespeak other than that of an aged and infirm old man.

Charles Hackett in this peculiar tale based upon the still more strange and involved Goethe story, Mr. Hackett, it was apparent, chose to concentrate on the vocal demands of his role rather than the Thespian, which, of course, is justifiable. However, it did detract from the heroism of his supposedly daring rescue of Mignon from the blazing theater when Laerte accompanied him into the inferno and actually carried the unconscious girl to safety. Wilhelm's heroism being confined to walking along side. This, however, enabled him to save his breath for the number which followed. Nor is this an attempt to belittle Mr. Hackett's ability. He sang his part splendidly and received a well-deserved ovation for his solo near the opening of the third act.

Josephine Antoinette, of Dixon, Ill., as Philine, proved herself not only a capable coloratura soprano but a convincing coquette, both in beauty and action. She climaxed her role with the extremely difficult polonaise near the end of the second act—so difficult there is a note in the score to the effect that "if the singer finds it impossible to sing the polonaise," it may be omitted.

The work of other principals in the cast and the chorus was well done. Angelo Bada sang Laerte, Norman Cordon was the gypsy leader, Jarno, and Helen Olheim the love-smitten youth, Frederic. Miss Olheim's outpouring of the desires of a youthful, amorous heart, to the tune of the gavotte which has become one of the better known numbers from this work, was especially noteworthy.

The skill with which Mr. Pelletier interpreted the graceful, melodic orchestral score completed an excellent performance which also was enhanced by a sprightly gypsy yodance by the American Ballet group and by especially colorful settings.

AMUSEMENTS

HARRIS THEATRE—CHICAGO

News reports from Chicago's Rialto to continue to lay stress upon the sensational success of "You Can't Take It With You." This farcical comedy by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman was warmly welcomed by press and public when Sam H. Harris brought it into the Harris theater early in February but now, in its second month, it has proven itself more than an ordinary hit. Even dailies of New York City, where another company has been dominating the Rialto since early December, take space to note that receipts in Chicago exceed those of the Broadway company, despite a more moderate scale here in the Mid-West. The difference is due in part to slightly larger seating capacity at the Harris theater, and an extra performance on Sunday night. The rush is such that alterations have been made in the Harris box office to accommodate extra ticket racks, and seats are now on sale for six weeks ahead. Mail orders are encouraged, especially from patrons outside the city, and they will be taken for any performance in the future, including holiday matinees through the summer and fall, to be filled in order of precedence as tickets are racked, always six weeks ahead.

The Chicago American has commented that "You Can't Take It With You" is chalking up a record for continuous side-splitting laughter. "And aside from its qualities as a laugh-maker, the play has received praise from most unexpected sources for its genuine sincerity. The Very Rev. Chester B. Emerson, dean of Trinity Episcopal cathedral, Cleveland, visiting Chicago to conduct special services under the auspices of the church club, for final address took as his theme the title of this comedy and endorsed the play wholeheartedly for demonstrating the joyousness of life. It has been recommended directly by other high Episcopal clergy as ideal entertainment for their parishioners in Lent, and the result of all this is that the play has boomed right along with capacity audiences through a period when normally there might be a falling off.

By coincidence, just at the same time, Brooks Atkinson, critic of The New York Times, has given additional endorsement, noting that the Messrs. Hart and Kaufman have shown the way to a new and welcome geniality in the theater. "Three months ago," says Mr. Atkinson, "the celebrated authors of 'Once in a Lifetime,' who perfected the vitriolic style, left 'the fancy way' and accepted the universe with 'You Can't Take It With You,' a merry prank that openly endorses tolerance."

All of which may help to explain why "You Can't Take It With You" bounds joyously along as the reigning success both of Chicago and New York, enjoyed by every element in its audiences.

KANSAS SEA DOG

SAILS THE PRAIRIE

Morland, Kan.—(AP)—It took 51 year for D. D. Kay, pioneer banker, to realize his ambition to sail a boat on the Kansas prairies.

Kansas had billows acres of buffalo grass—but no waves—when Kay, who crossed the ocean three times in his youth, came here in 1885.

Now, thanks to completion of a WPA project he sponsored, Kay can sail to his heart's content on a lake
